Review Procedure MB2027 for reviewers

This procedure is for people who have been invited either by symposium chairs or by members of the program committee to review papers for the Measuring Behavior 2027 conference. This document and some additional information is available from here.

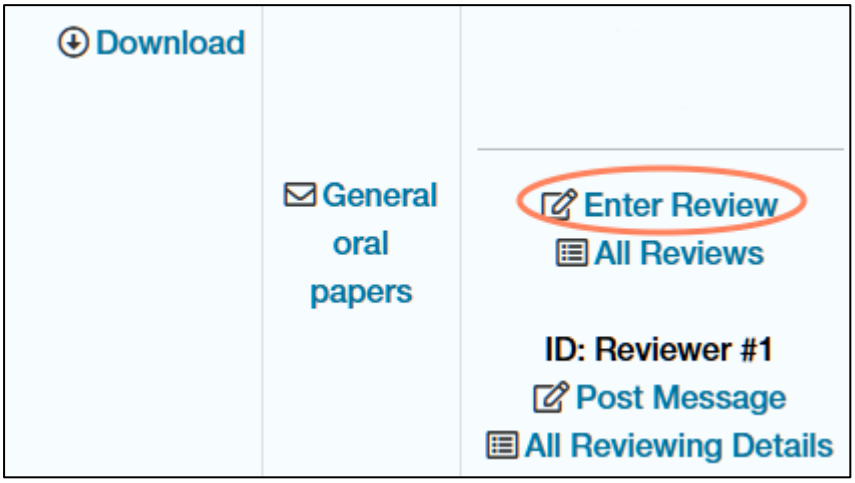

1. Reviews are carried out in the submission system: https://cmt3.research.microsoft.com/MB2027. If you do not have an account yet, you need to create one. The account e-mail and the e-mail used by the chair to invite you need to match.
2. You should not review papers which are written by yourself, or a close colleague. If in doubt, contact the person who invited you to review. In principle the review is double-blind so you will only know this if you recognise the work presented.
3. Log on to the system and if necessary, select Reviewer as your role (top right of screen).

4. Each paper has both an abstract (primarily for the program) and to download the short paper. The links to those are next to the text of the title in the Reviewer Console.
Read the abstract and download the short paper.

5. On the right-hand side of the table, there is a link to Enter your Review.

6. Answer the review questions. Most have a question mark with a short explanation.
   If the authors have not used the style guide template or the paper is less than one page long, mention that in the question about the general quality of the paper. That document also gives more information about what is needed in the paper; reviewers should read it.
7. Remember that the paper should focus on tools and methods. Results can be presented to show that the method works, but the focus should be on new methods, tools and techniques.
8. Remember to click the Submit button at the bottom of the page when you are done.
9. The deadline for reviews is 17th December 2026.
